

Module Four

Handout: Introduction to writing techniques

Welcome to Module Four! At this stage, we have explored format, concept, character and plot. Now, it's time to put your story into words.

This module will cover:

- different forms of writing: narrative, concept, non-fiction, and well-being, and techniques to consider
- narrative writing techniques
- literary writing techniques
- show don't tell
- finding your voice.

Aim to produce a picture book manuscript by the end of this module. In the meantime, though, play with techniques and keep your free writing practice alive. It might seem like there is lots to think about. But the main thing is to have fun and to experiment with techniques, as you discover your personal writing style.
